A Double Wedding.

A double wedding which took place at New Albany, Indiana, last week, has something of interest to Wheeling friends of one of the brides. Miss Rachel King, who made many friends here, during a recent visit to her sister, Mrs. Joseph Webb. The other bride was her sister, Miss Mamie King. Miss Rachel was espoused by Mr. Benjamin Briggs and Miss Mamie by Mr. Monroe Matheny. Their friends in this city extend the heartiest wishes for a happy married life.

WHAT THE TEACHERS SAY.

Opinions as to the Intelligencer's Atlas From Them.

WHEELING, W. VA., Nov. 21, 1895. Intelligencer Publishing Co., Gentlemen—I have carefully examined your sample of the New General Atlas. The marginal notes are excellent and the whole work complete and up to date. It is just the atlas for busy people. Respectfully, MARY RAPPETTO.

WHEELING, W. VA., Nov. 7, 1895. Intelligencer Publishing Co.,

Gentlemen—I have examined the initial number of your atlas with much satisfaction and heartily recommend it on four accounts, namely: Beauty, accuracy, completeness and cheapness. In addition to these characteristics, the maps of our larger cities form a feature that must be invaluable to the traveler, and easily worth the price asked for the whole series. It is seldom we find so much information condensed into so small a space. Truly yours, J. M. HAMMOND, Principal Union School.

POTOMAC, W. VA., Nov. 12, 1895. Intelligencer Publishing Co.,

Gentlemen—Giving the specimen copies minute inspection, I find them the most complete and valuable of any work of the kind that I have ever examined. Yours respectfully, IDA M. SNEDEKER.

DON'T let the weather keep you away. It does not matter how cloudy it is, we guarantee a good photograph. When you see the photograph your friends are getting for $1.75 per dozen at O'Neill's, 1255 Market street, you will want some also. Come this and next week and you can have them for Christmas. ## STRANGE ACCIDENT.

A C. & P. Freight Engine Runs off the Side Track.

DASHES THROUGH A KITCHEN.

It Tears Away the Heavy Oak Bumpers at the End of the Track and Runs into a Dwelling House Before it Stops—An Open Switch Causes all the Trouble. Nobody is Seriously Hurt, Though a Number of People are Pretty Badly Frightened and There are Several Narrow Escapes.

A wreck occurred on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad in the lower end of Martin's Ferry yesterday afternoon, caused by an open switch. A freight train running at full speed ran on a short siding and through a dwelling house. The trainmen jumped and escaped uninjured and no person was hurt. There were several narrow escapes.

Owing to the carelessness of some railroad employees the switch in front of Spence, Bagges & Co.'s stove works on Seventh street was left open in the afternoon, and the south bound local freight No. 91 was the victim. The accident occurred at 4:30. Fortunately the train was a short one and no one was hurt. The train was running quite rapidly at the time and shot into the open switch, which is on the east side of the track, the entire train entering the switch.

As soon as the engineer and fireman saw there was something wrong they reversed the engine and jumped off, just as the engine was plowing its way through the heavy oak bumper at the end of the switch on Monroe street, which was made of timber eighteen inches square. The train was still running and did not stop until after the engine had run through the kitchen of the residence of Mrs. Mears and the wheels were buried in the ground clear up to the drivers.

Mrs. Mears and her daughter, Miss Lazzie, saw the train coming and ran out of the kitchen into another part of the house, or they would probably have been killed. The house was considerably shaken and they were much frightened as it was.

James Snodgrass and John Howell were playing marbles at the bumper at the end of the switch, and this being so close to the main track they did not realize that the train was on the siding and rapidly approaching them, until it was almost upon them. They were so badly frightened that they did not know which way to go and ran in opposite directions, both screaming. Several persons who were walking by were also frightened, and like the boys, they scarcely knew just where to go to get out of the road of the train.

The train was in charge of William Tobin, and he was in the caboose with the brakeman and W. F. Eberle, of Bridgeport, and while they received a good shaking up none of them was hurt.

The engineer was Dan Haley and the fireman William Croft. They were slightly bruised in jumping.

The engine was No. 654 and escaped well under the circumstances, not being much damaged. Very little damage was done to the cars and the loss of the kitchen was the extent of the damage to the Mears house. The switch was soon repaired.

A yard engine made an unsuccessful effort to pull out the train and the wrecking train was telegraphed for.

A Child Enjoys.

The pleasant flavor, gentle action and soothing effects of Syrup of Figs, when in need of a laxative, and if the father or mother be constipated or bilious, the most gratifying results follow its use, so that it is the best family remedy known, and every family should have a bottle on hand.

Art Needle Exhibit.

Mr. J. V. Wood, of the Richardson Silk Company, will give an exhibition of artistic embroidery at the parlors of the McClure House Wednesday, November 27—one day only, assisted by Miss M. L. Dawson, late of the Chicago Society of Decorative Art. This collection embraces some of the finest specimens of needle work done in this country. It is free to all ladies. A cordial invitation is extended.

TOM and Jerry Sets, at JOHN FRIEDEL &amp; CO.'S

THE market is full of cough mixtures, but one trouble with most of them is that when they do a little good the patient has to take so much that he gets to loath the taste. The Pincola Balsam is superior to other cough remedies because it is agreeable to the palate and its good effects are immediate. In a few days an ordinary cough is gone altogether. Bronchitis and asthma are more stubborn, but they too are cured by Ely's Pincola Balsam. A remedy worth trying. Twenty-five cents is all it costs.

YOU will find more interesting matter to the square inch on the ten 16-page sections of the New General Atlas of the World, with marginal index, than has ever before appeared upon pages of their size (12x14) inches. Offered by the Intelligencer at ten cents per section.

P. D. HOUSE COVERS fit not only pocketbooks but horses as well.

YOU ask: "What will I put in the Children's Home sack?" Answer: Sugar, flour, corn meal, soap, anything you use in your own family.

Both Sides of the Question.

Our Side:

To begin with, we do not ask any deposit—money until you have made your selection and settled the points of style, fit and quality. There is no delay, no fault finding, no cause for complaint through us, but greater satisfaction, and at materially less cost. Our Suits and Overcoats at $10, $12 and $15 are more than a match for any tailor's at $18, $25 and $30. The variety to show from is larger—you see and select the finished, completed garments—see just how they look on you—see which style is most becoming—which color, which fabric you like best made up—and then, after all these precautions, if there is a cause for dissatisfaction your money is here for you.

The Cheap Tailor's Side: Theirs is a short story for the first thing. They will want a deposit—then they have got you. They will measure and fool around—keep you waiting days and weeks—and after you get your suit or overcoat, what is it?—disappointment—and you feel as if the $18, $25 or $30 you have paid them is thrown away.

We've got the best of the argument on our side—with quality, fit, and fashion—and a saving of $5 to $15 to back us up.

Every day we are adding to the variety in our Boys' and Children's Clothing Department. We had to. We have been crowding three months' business into one. The boys know a good thing when they see it—from the little tot of four years to the full grown boy—are always satisfied that the style, fit and wear are in their clothing when bought at
